Thank you for protecting your account by enabling MFA. We noticed that you have only one MFA verification method registered.

We strongly recommend registering multiple verification methods so that you can always access your account. For example, if you're using a mobile authenticator app as your primary verification method, it's a good idea to also generate temporary recovery codes in case you forget or lose your mobile device.

Visit Account Settings and select Manage Multi-Factor Authentication to register one or more additional MFA verification methods.

Thank you.
